

Loneliness

All health professionals welcome

Free Seminar

Key speaker: Dawne Garrett, Professional Lead for Care of Older People, Royal College of Nursing

Event supported by:

Free seminar on Loneliness

The institute of Ageing and Health together with the National Council of Women and the Royal College of Nursing is delighted to invite you to attend this seminar on understanding the impact of loneliness on people's physical and mental health.

There will be a number of expert speakers from leading UK organisations to explain how society can support people experiencing loneliness and informing health professionals where to signpost people for help.

Older people are particularly vulnerable to social isolation or loneliness, so join us at this seminar to hear about the interventions that can help to tackle these issues.

Who would benefit from attending:

- ▶ Doctors and GPs
- ▶ Registered Nurses and GPNs
- ▶ Physiotherapists and OTs
- ▶ Medical and Nursing Students
